

Quarksoft, a multinational technology and consulting firm recognized by Forbes, Ernst & Young, and American Express, is a trusted partner for application development, maintenance, testing and any of your software-related requirements for desktop, enterprise, and mobile platforms. We understand how building partnerships with new global vendors is done with its challenges and rewards. We help our customers effectively reduce costs, allocate flexible headcount, access highly specialized expertise, and let their internal teams focus on the “next big thing” that will drive their business forward.

Whatever is your preferred flavor of working with a trusted partner -on-premise, onshore, nearshore, or offshore-, Quarksoft is your partner in leveraging and delivering on the power of technology.

Process Software Consulting

Whether you choose the Waterfall, Iterative, Scrum or Agile methodology, how well you adhere to the SMD can effectively drive your business forward.

- Agile Consulting
- PSP / TSP
- Lean Software Development
- Process assessment
- Software process capability improvement

Subcontracting

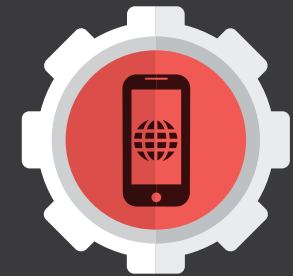

Software development Subcontracting is an effective method to expand the capacity of your team and deliver unique solutions through a third-party organization.

- Successfully reduce cost
- Access specific expertise
- Allocate flexible headcount
- Focus on the next big thing
- Faster application delivery

Mobile Development

More and more businesses see mobile as the next step to reach customers and deliver services

- Add mobile expertise to your team
 - Successfully create a great user experience
 - Develop for one or more mobile platforms
 - Choose the right platform and technology
- 